

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A connector for connecting a subscriber line to an electrical component comprises a housing having a receiving slot. The connector further comprises a clip slidably coupled to and retained by an inner wall of the housing, the inner wall defining the receiving slot.